

Musical Performances

Rick Lee & Audrey Rinkoski: 11:00-11:45am

Rick Lee and Audrey Rinkoski are both Rochester residents with extensive musical backgrounds in the performing arts. Rick has played at local clubs for the past several years and Audrey is active in local theater. Rick and Audrey add a soft, bossa nova twist to jazz standards.

A traditional Brazilian Samba Batucada: 12:00-12:45pm

Deadly Night Shade: 1:00-1:45pm

Deadly Night Shade is an easy listening jazz group. Members include Rochester native, Latin rhythm and jazz singer Laural Podulke, St Paul resident and multi-instrumentalist Sam McMullin on keyboard, recent Lanesburo transplant Jessie Buggs, with broad experience in varied musical genres on guitar and classical to jazz trumpet player Mike McMullin.

Cabin of Love: 2:00-3:00pm

Cabin of Love is Julia and Nathan Bloom, an Owatonna couple who for fourteen years have been playing thoughtful original songs combining various forms of American pop music on all sorts of stages and in a smattering of studios. The Blooms live on a city lot with chickens in the backyard, edibles in the landscape, bicycles in the garage, rain barrels under the downspouts, and a community garden down the road. They love creating together – especially music, food, and useful beautiful spaces.

Orangutan!: 3:30-4:30 pm

Prairie Sons: 5:00-6:00 pm

The Evening Rig: 6:30-7:30 pm

The Evening Rig formed in the summer of 2006. The band is comprised of former members of The Crush, The Cardinal Sin and The Framed. Their second album, "Is Doin' Stuff," is out now on Heart of A Champion records.

Red Pens: 8:00-9:00pm

Seeing the Minneapolis duo Red Pens is like witnessing a demonstration. A demonstration in raw sonic bliss. Howard Hamilton III is a string bending master and knows how to make feedback work to his advantage. His confident vocal stylings coupled with drummer Laura Bennett's all or nothing kit pounding are about as uniquely refreshing as it gets these days.
